

FRANKENWEENIE

THE CONDITIONS NEEDED FOR LIFE

In the film Frankenweenie, Victor brings his deceased pet dog Sparky back to life using electricity. At first, Sparky is happy to be reunited with his master, but eventually, he finds his new existence scary when people react badly to him.

- What do you think Victor learns from this experience about the conditions needed for life?
- We all know that you need your heart to pump blood around your body to stay alive, but how do you take care of someone and make them happy when they are alive?

Write a 'Conclusion' to Victor's experiment which outlines the things that we need to be happy to really live, not just to stay alive.

film education

©2012 Film Education
www.filmeducation.org/frankenweenie

FRANKENWEENIE

VICTOR'S CONCLUSION:

I know that to survive, we need:

But to really live life to the full, I need to give Sparky:

film education

©2012 Film Education
www.filmeducation.org/frankenweenie